

SHERBROOKE RESTORATION COMMISSION
JOB POSTING

HERITAGE INTERPRETER (LIVING HISTORY)

Heritage Interpreters help bring Sherbrooke Village to life and are responsible for providing knowledgeable and courteous interpretation of the buildings and our site to the public while adopting the persona of a period character demonstrating rural village life of the 19th century. Working with other site staff, the Heritage Interpreter will deliver interpretive programs and services such as house tours, school programs, events, workshops, food preparation and serving, off-site activities, and demonstrations as required. The position includes artefact and collections care, and general cleaning of buildings and surrounding grounds.

The goal of all Heritage Interpreters is to progressively add to their knowledge of Victorian era life and develop a first-person interpretation. Heritage Interpreters must also add to their knowledge of Sherbrooke Village architecture, genealogy, lifestyles, economies and materials and develop competency in traditional skill sets. Heritage Interpreter staff are expected to take on leadership roles and help co-workers in their pursuit of knowledge and skills. Interpreters are further expected to continue to attain satisfactory ongoing performance reviews. All frontline staff are expected to wear period clothing according to Museum and Wardrobe standards.
